

► Get to know the country's leading Cannabis Law Attorneys.

► Today's most prominent cannabis companies have one thing in common, they've turned to experienced legal teams for guidance, right from the start. Denver-based cannabis attorney Steve Levine puts it well, "The cannabis business is fraught with various pitfalls for companies from the initial start-up stage to an exit event. Navigating the ever-changing regulations governing the legal cultivation and sale of marijuana, industrial hemp and CBD requires working with a knowledgeable legal team."

From Puerto Rico to California, here's your guide to some of the country's leading cannabis law attorneys. Featuring ZAREEFA FLENER (Illinois), STEVE LEVINE (Colorado), ROD KIGHT (North Carolina), JEFFREY WELSH & LUKE STANTON (California), GOODWIN ALDARONDO (Puerto Rico) and from Texas, DANIEL MEHLER...!

◀ Zareefa B. Flener
Flener IP & Business Law

Zareefa B. Flener, MS (Molecular Biology, with Distinction), JD, USPTO Registered Practitioner, is the Founder and Managing Partner at FLENER IP & BUSINESS LAW, a Women-Owned intellectual property and business/corporate law firm. For nearly two decades she has managed international and domestic patent and trademark portfolios in a wide range of areas, with six years of experience in the cannabis arena. Named by IP Star as one of the Top 250 Women in IP, her clients include TIME.com's Invention of The Year award winner and one of FAST Company's Most Innovative Companies. From cannabis to stem cells, plant varieties to chemical processing and extractions; Zareefa counsels companies from the ground up, from incorporation to raising capital, to protecting and enforcing their intellectual property. Her unique skill set and depth of experience in assisting cannabis companies achieve prominence sets her apart in this increasingly crowded field.

(312) 724-8874 x 101
zflener@fleneriplaw.com
www.fleneriplaw.com

- Zareefa B. Flener Featured in High Times Magazine's February 2020 Advocacy Issue.
- One of 7 Attorneys to Appear in the "2020 Leaders in Cannabis Law" Special Section.